Mountain to Modern

Terrain takes inspiration from Mountain Modern architecture, featuring sharply pitched rooflines, black-framed windows and vertical siding. The homes have been designed to act as a respite from the elements. Step inside and find thoughtfully designed open-concept floorplans featuring beautiful kitchens with spacious islands. Stay comfortable all year with an efficient heat pump heating and air-conditioning system. And enjoy the convenience of overheight garages with side-by-side parking for two cars, a Level 2 EV rough-in and space to store your outdoor gear.

From Sea to Sky

Located along the Sea to Sky corridor halfway between Vancouver and Whistler, Squamish is a gorgeous and growing community known for its exceptional outdoor recreation, family-friendly lifestyle and great work/life balance.

Stawamus Chief, one of North America's largest granite monoliths, soars over the city, the turquoise waters of Howe Sound and the surrounding coastal forests. This stunning scenery is the stage for some of the best windsurfing, kayaking, paddleboarding, hiking, mountain biking, trail running, backcountry skiing and rock climbing in the world.

After exploring the great outdoors, locals and visitors alike enjoy the warm, welcoming atmosphere of Squamish's variety of restaurants, cafés, brewpubs and boutiques. A vibrant arts and culture scene includes gallery walks, festivals and concerts, and there's plenty of family fun to be had at museums, adventure parks and nearby lakes. Residents also have access to a wealth of convenient services, including excellent educational opportunities, from daycare, elementary school and high school to a private university and alternative learning options.
